CORRUPTION AND LEGISLATION: ANALYSIS OF THE LAW FOR CORRUPTION

Analysis of the law for corruption is a rather urgent issue in the state. By adopting normative legal acts with an ambiguous interpretation, the legislator creates an opportunity for officials to interpret it in accordance with their interests. The most relevant is the analysis of those normative legal acts that formulate the powers of executive authorities in relations with citizens and legal entities, as well as the procedure and terms for the implementation of these powers.
